

October 2005

Hello everybody-

This month we're over on the West side of Portland. In fact, we'll be here for the foreseeable future, as we bought a nice house and once we get properly moved in won't want to do much moving for a while.

Well, all I can say is it's good to have a bit of health in the bank for a season like this. Days are long, rest is short, and simple things take forever. Just writing this email meant I had to organize part of a room so that I could clear a bit of table space. Then I had to find enough computer pieces to assemble a workable machine, and then wait while a weeks worth of spam downloaded and discarded. (I love this Thunderbird program).

Needless to say, our get together this Friday will not be the most organized we've ever done. I've no idea how many of the boxes in the living room will be gone by that time, but no matter. We'll have fun. Currently we have an old video projector set up so that we can watch things in style. And new situations always have their own level of excitement.

Hope you can all make it. And by all means note the new address.

Every Blessing...

-Gary & Sandra-
